1. SITUATION

Who are we? What has happened?

Tensions are running high in the Scottish Highlands, after the Scottish National Liberation Army (SNLA) resurfaced here and unleashed a chain of Domestic Terrorist Attacks against the UK. Following the unauthorized release of highly classified documents suggesting an affiliation between the Scottish Regional Government and Key Figures of the SNLA which led to the Government's abolishment, the SNLA declared the regions under its control a new sovereign state, dubbed: "New Scotland".

The backbone of the SNLA is formed by paramilitary insurgent cells hiding out in the fragmented Scottish Highlands, hiding weapons, money, drugs, and other materials in little stashes across the little hamlets that house the region's population. A few of the old-established clans in the Highlands are exerting their influence on the rebels, too. The SNLA is also heavily employing propaganda to indoctrinate the Civilians and recruit more members for their rebellion.

After a catastrophic incident during a Police Raid in the village of Clovullin and surrounding structures, a special division of the BAF - Task Force: Last Resort - has been deployed to handle the precarious situation in the region.

6. TECHNICAL DETAILS

This mission introduces a new mod and new equipment: The “Breaching Charge” and “Door Wedge”. The Breaching Charge is a fully ACE-compatible Explosive Device that can be attached vertically to doors and can be used to blow them open. The Breaching Charge can also be used to blow down walls and fences. A short step-by-step tutorial for using the Breaching Charge is attached below. Section Engineers should familiarize themselves with this new equipment, since its use is mission-critical. A “training facility” to try out the Breaching Charges can be found at base.

The Breaching Charge works exactly like any other ACE Explosive: It can be planted and wired up using the Interaction Menu.

Special care must be given only to the placement of the charge: Get as close to the door/wall as possible, without the charge “phasing” through it.

You can verify that the charge has been placed correctly, if the “ring” appears around the charge after it has been planted.

After that, treat the charge like any other explosive: select the trigger through the Interaction Menu and touch it off after calling out. Upon detonation, the door will open and you can breach the room.

Please note that the explosion of the charge extends a bit to either side, so keep a distance between yourself and the charge before touching it off. The explosion especially extends into the room, incapacitating enemies within and allowing you to breach the room a bit more safely.
